JERRY YARNELL'S POLICY ON COPYING/SELLING FROM HIS INSTRUCTIONS

Can I sign my name to a painting although I painted it from an art book, video, or photograph of one of Jerry's paintings? Yes, if it is one of his instructional materials and NOT one of his personal Gallery paintings. However, Jerry requests that you please Sign your name to your artwork AND Give instructor credit. When entering your artwork into a competition, show, or gallery, you are required to change the 'name' of the painting from the title that Jerry has used. IMPORTANT: If you are selling or showing your art, make sure you change the painting SIGNIFICANTLY from Jerry's instructional copy. You are not allowed to enter a competition, show, or gallery or sell any art that is a "copy" of Jerry's instructional materials. The intent of the instructional paintings is to help students learn fine art techniques – but they are not designed to copy and make money on. Copyright laws prohibit this.
